Course Content

A joint venture between the Allergy Academy and the RCGP, our aim is to equip healthcare practitioners with the skills and confidence necessary to diagnose and manage allergic disease in the community. In this course, we focus particularly on allergic disease in the school age child. This day is particularly targeted towards doctors and nurses working in the primary care setting, but any interested healthcare professionals are welcome to attend.

This course is suitable for GPs at all levels, nurses and AITs

Learning objectives:

- To identify allergic disease amongst school-aged children
- To initiate robust management of allergic disease and determine when referral is warranted
- Understand how to optimise device usage to gain control of allergic disease
- Recognise and take steps when allergic disease is complicated by safeguarding concerns

Topic highlights:

- Assessing risk of anaphylaxis and prescribing adrenaline
- A diagnostic approach to the wheezy child
- Management of eczema in primary care
